WHO AND WHAT IS SUAVV

SUAVV Magazine recognizes the importance of a mentally, physically, socially and spiritually balanced life. SUAVV brings all of that to its readers and more. As a lifestyle magazine, SUAVV's purpose is to make every reader feel important and able to relate to our content. SUAVV intends to entertain, inform and persuade constructive thought. The reader's voice and opinion are integral to our purpose. SUAVV will always strive to bring the most compelling editorials. Profiles will be intriguing, entertaining, and influential with a voice that will resonate throughout the journalistic community.

The goal is to reach as many Black people as possible—and not just men. Because SUAVV is primarily for Black men, we also believe that everyone of every race, gender, and age will be able to benefit from our content which may not only change or expand the readers' viewpoints and opinions, but maybe even their lives. Slated to be the biggest Black men's magazine of our time, SUAVV may be a lifestyle magazine today, but it will be a way of life tomorrow.

The SUAVV Man is confident and sophisticated with an affable charm. He enjoys life, for all its complexities and pleasures. He is as respectable as he is smooth and is a leader to those around him. The SUAVV Man wants to look good and feel good about who he is while carrying himself with pride.

SUAVV Magazine was started to offer Black men something other magazines for men don't—reality. Our mission is to encourage readers to aspire to do and be bigger things. SUAVV readers should feel motivated and inspired to make changes, not only in themselves but also in the world around them. We want our readers to be able to achieve everything the mind can possibly imagine.

SUAVV has competitive editorial content and will lead magazines into a new generation of journalistic excellence. With the additions of SUAVV Sessions: The Podcast and SUAVV TV on the YouTube platform, SUAVV connects with the reader on every level, breathing life into readers' minds. More importantly, SUAVV plans to always be more than just a Black men's magazine, but as a necessary and critical part of African American lives.

SUAVV Magazine reflects all aspects of the lifestyle of the contemporary Black man and his many dimensions: mental, physical, social, and spiritual. We are for the active and affluent Black man and the number one choice for any sophisticated, young, urban male.

Suavv Magazine features cutting-edge, well-written stories that are entertaining as well as insightful. Suavv also features interviews with some of the country's most captivating people. Its contents include music, television, literature, fashion, politics, sports, relationships, and health, just to name a few.

Publishing nine times per year, Suavv will appeal to the biggest companies as a major advertising entity. Suavv has the power to influence and impact a large audience of African Americans. Advertisers should know that Suavv offers style, originality, and a personality that is able to relate not only to African American men but to all of its unique readers.

SUAVV MAGAZINE BENEFITS

The average American spends more than 6.31 hours a day online. This is the equivalent of 30 straight days a year. Social networking accounts for 33 percent of the time, and 42 percent is spent viewing content. Other activities, such as email, commerce and searching, accounts for 26 percent.

Among people who use the Internet, each person visits 2,646 Web pages on 89 domains and logs in 57 times per Month.

Suavv Magazine features cover stories every month with major celebrities who are relevant and popular, as well as more celebrity interviews inside.

When purchasing advertising in our magazine, you automatically get FREE advertising banners to go with your print ad anywhere in the online magazine, yet strategically placed where your ad will get the most visibility.

This means that readers buy and read our magazine because we relate to what they like and give them what they want to read about, building trust and loyalty between us and our readers. With your advertisement in our magazine, our readers will trust and believe that we will only show them products, services and businesses that are truly the best.

Suavv's ad rates are extremely competitive against other publications in our similar market, and they are extremely reasonable for the cost. It's not likely you'll be able to find another magazine as good as ours with ad rates just as cheap.

Our magazine sells for $.99 on the Apple and Google Platforms! We keep in mind the buying power and typical earnings and spending of our consumers, which naturally will entice them to be more willing to buy our magazine at a cheaper price, rather than the magazines that sell for upwards of $5 with the same celebrity cover stories.

Suavv has a continuous growing audience, with more than 600,000 regular (that means every month) on-line readers (comprehensive to what a regular circulating readership would be for a print magazine).
